Chaudhary Ranbir Singh University, Jind

Chaudhary Ranbir Singh University, formerly known as Kurukshetra University Post Graduate Regional Centre, is established by Govt. of Haryana, Ordinance No. 6 of 2014 on 24th July, 2014. Under the dynamic leadership of Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor Prof. R.B. Solanki, the university provides a participatory academic environment to its students and its neighbour community through social outreach programmes. The university endeavours to contribute towards the holistic development of the students thereby actuating the multidimensional growth of the region. The university cherishes a vision to be among top players in the academics and research by 2020.

The Department of English

The Department of English was established on 24th July, 2014. Renowned academicians like Prof. Bhim Singh Dahiya and Prof. Anand Parkash provided patronage and support for its growth and functioning. The department is chaired by Prof. Sandeep Berwal, who, through his untiring efforts has successfully created a fertile environment for academics and research. The department offers research and supervision at graduate and undergraduate level of study. To ensure a sound critical environment for the students, the department offers a wide range of activities like lectures, seminars and group discussions to enhance the skills of the students. Text based movies are also shown to the students on a regular basis to make their understanding of the syllabus more comprehensive. Extension lectures are a regular feature of the department.

Three-Day Workshop on Phonetics and Communication Skills

In today's globalized scenario, the workplace has become a place for complex interpersonal relations. Apart from basic qualifications, creative thinking, conflict resolution, sense of humour, team building, adaptability, negotiation skills, emotional intelligence, leadership, stress and time management, presentation skills and work etiquettes are crucial for competency and career development. Soft skills training develop individual competency by focusing on organizational experience as a whole leading to group dynamism. Communication skills are more critical than ever as organizations struggle to find meaningful ways to remain competitive and productive. As universities are not only centres of research but also of skill and human resource development, so it becomes indispensable to view the issue of phonetics and communication skills from the prism of education. So, apart from issues related to phonetics and communication excellence, the three-day workshop will also focus on following relevant areas:

- Stress & Syllabic Structure
- English as a Second Language
- The Science of Vedic Communication
- Phonetic Transcriptions.
- Pedagogical issues
- Literature as a form of communication

Objectives

The workshop aims to meet the following objectives:

- Evolving Paradigms for the evaluation & Assessment of Second Language Learners.
- Developing practicing modules & Syllabus for English Language Learning.
- Developing emotional intelligence through communication
- Identifying barriers in effective communication

Outcomes

After attending the workshop the participants will have:

- Well defined goals for more effective communications
- The ability to create an open environment for communication
- The skill to communicate clearly
- Stronger relationships through powerful communication
- Emotional Intelligence to deal with difficult situations
